ABOUT ME

I am located in the United States, and have been traveling consistently for 7 years. I was always great at photography and having an aesthetic eye. I started an Instagram to showcase my content taken with my professional camera and drone. My account started gaining interest from the public quickly, which made my passion for social media creation, photography, and videography spiral into a content creation business. I own a website where I post blogs about travel tips, itineraries, and product reviews that my followers love. I have a passion for nature, photography, travel, and social media creation. I put my follower's wants and needs first, and look forward to continuing to provide them incredible content while also promoting businesses and brands that align with my content style.
